

DROUGHT RESOURCES

for Agriculture in Southwest Colorado

You don't have to face drought alone.

Local partners have compiled planning tools, funding options, mental health supports, and contacts to help producers through tough times.

Scan for the full resource guide

or visit the shared Google Drive PDF

What you will find:

- Drought planning tools and handbooks
- Current drought, climate, snowpack, and water conditions
- USDA/FSA disaster assistance program information
- CWCB drought response grants and loan information
- Ag business decision tools, including hay and livestock planning
- Mental health and crisis support resources
- Local Extension, FSA, NRCS, and conservation district contacts

Need help navigating resources? Contact your local CSU Extension office, Farm Service Agency, NRCS office, or conservation district.

Immediate support is available: 988 Colorado Crisis Services - call 1 (844) 493-8255 or text TALK to 38255. You can also call 211 for information and referrals.

Prepared by regional agriculture, Extension, conservation, economic development, and community partners.
Please share this flyer with producers, ranchers, growers, and agricultural workers who may need drought-related support.